Archaeologies of Attachment : Emotional Attachments in the Archaeological Record

Lipkin, Sanna (ed.)
Bell, Tarynn (ed.)
Väre, Tiina (ed.)
1. ed.
Springer, 2024
(Themes in Contemporary Archaeology)
xi, 121 p.
9783031665691
150,60 €

This edited volume offers a new approach to the study of emotion in the past, focusing on the experience of emotional attachment. Psychological research has demonstrated that all humans are capable of forming a variety of close social and emotional attachments from cradle to grave, yet archaeology has not, to date, considered the significance of these attachments in any detail.

A richly illustrated account of how premodern botanical illustrations document evolving knowledge about plants and the ways they were studied in the past.

This book traces the history of botanical illustration in the Mediterranean from antiquity to the early modern period.

Ceramic Perspectives on Connectivity in the Ancient Mediterranean

Hilditch, Jill (ed.)
Revello Lami, Martina (ed.)
1. ed.
Amsterdam University Press, 2025
(Amsterdam Archaeological Studies ; 31)
344 p. ; 29x21 cm.
9789089646286
242,05 €

The identification of ceramic imports within prehistoric and historic assemblages has long been the primary indicator for identifying connections between different sites and regions. Yet this has fostered a presence/absence diagnosis for contact between different communities. Approaches such as post-colonial perspectives and network analysis, which focus on the nature of the connections, are now beginning to offer more meaningful ways of considering past interactions.

Connecting Communities in Archaic Greece : exploring Economic and Political Networks through Data Modelling

Loy, Michael

Deep-Time Images in the Age of Globalization : rock Art in the 21st Century

Moro Abadía, Óscar (ed.)
Conkey, Margaret W. (ed.)
McDonald, Josephine (ed.)
1. ed.
Springer, 2024
(Interdisciplinary Contributions to Archaeology)
vii, 317 p.
9783031546372
64,07 €

This volume explores the impact of globalization on the contemporary study of deep-time art. The volume explores how early rock art research's Eurocentric biases have shifted with broadened global horizons to facilitate new conversations and discourses in new post-colonial realities. The book uses seven main themes to explore theoretical, methodological, ethical, and practical developments that are orienting the study of Pleistocene and Holocene arts in the age of globalization.

Du jade pour les dieux : un système religieux de l'Europe néolithique, ve et ive millénaires av. J.-C. ; Jade for the Gods : a Religious System in Neolithic Europe, 5th and 4th Millennia BC

No hay mayor símbolo de separación que un muro, y no hay, quizá, muro más conocido, que el Muro de Adriano. El Muro de Adriano se construyó en el siglo II para separar a los «bárbaros» caledonios y pictos de la «civilizada» provincia romana de Britania, y aunque desde entonces son incontables los días y noches que ha visto, las lluvias que ha soportado y los hombres que lo han hollado, sus restos permanecen, orgullosos, como el monumento romano más grande y uno de los más famosos.

En el corazón de la Algarbía : un estudio arqueológico de la Sierra de Gibralmora (Pizarra, Málaga)

A pesar de unos innegables valores patrimoniales (geológicos, biogeográficos, arqueológicos, paisajísticos), la sierra de Gibralmora o del Hacho en Pizarra (Málaga), en el centro de la Algarbía o parte occidental de la ciudad de Málaga, apenas si había recibido atención por parte de la investigación científica. De hecho, el lugar había permanecido a esos efectos prácticamente ignoto.

Études sur la propriété impériale et l'économie dans l'Asie Mineure romaine

Dalla Rosa, Alberto (ed.)
1. ed.
Ausonius Éditions, 2024
(Scripta antiqua ; 183)
164 p. ; 24x17 cm.

Les huit contributions étudient les retombées économiques suscitées par l'inclusion de l'Asie Mineure dans l'espace politique de l'Empire romain. Deux thèmes sont mis au centre de l'enquête. D'un côté, il s'agit de comprendre les mécanismes de diffusion de la propriété impériale sur la base d'une révision ample des sources, afin de déterminer dans quelle mesure l'empereur eut une politique d'acquisition patrimoniale dans la région.

Forensic Archaeology and New Multidisciplinary Approaches : topics Discussed During the 2018-2023 European Meetings on Forensic Archaeology (EMFA)

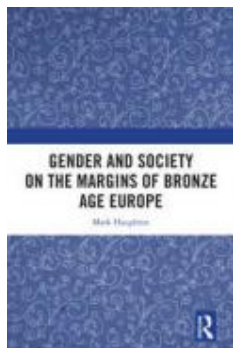

Barone, Pier Matteo (ed.)
Groen, Mike (ed.)
1. ed.
Springer, 2025
(Soil Forensics)
xiv, 269 p.
9783031863073
161,42 €

This book presents the latest research and developments in forensic archaeology, as discussed at the European Meetings on Forensic Archaeology (EMFA) from 2018 to 2023. It captures the dynamic and multidisciplinary nature of the field, highlighting the challenges and innovations that have emerged over the last five years.

Divided into three main parts, the book addresses critical aspects of forensic archaeology and its diverse applications.

Gender and Society on the Margins of Bronze Age Europe

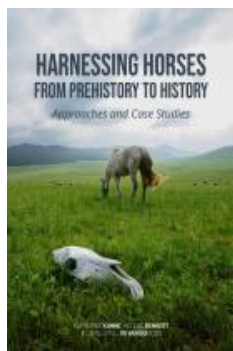

Haughton, Mark
1. ed.
Routledge, 2024
190 p.
9781032578859
192,21 €

This book explores and critiques the underlying assumption that a binary gender system and patriarchal norms were universal in Bronze Age Europe through a careful analysis of burial practice in Ireland and Scotland.

Gender and Society on the Margins of Bronze Age Europe makes a decisive and critical intervention in the debate around the nature of gender in the European Bronze Age.

Harnessing horses from prehistory to history : approaches and case studies

Kanne, Katherine (ed.)
Benkert, Helene (ed.)
Vo Van Qui, Camille M. L. (ed.)
1. ed.
Sidestone Press, 2025
330 p. ; 28x21 cm.
9789464263350
68,64 €

The human past is unimaginable without the horse. From our ancestors hunting and painting horses in the Upper Palaeolithic, to the earliest riders, the rise of equestrian empires, and the critical role of horses in war, settler colonialism, and modern state formation, human history is undeniably equestrian. Because of the deep and varied entanglements between people and horses, the study of horses of the past is inherently, and increasingly, interdisciplinary.

Infrared Spectroscopy of Archaeological Sediments

Secret partagé d'adolescents un soir d'été 1940, Lascaux est aujourd'hui partie intégrante de notre panthéon national. Un monument que les plus anciens d'entre nous, privilégiés, s'enorgueillissent d'avoir vécu en version originale. Oubliant, parfois, que l'exploitation intense de ce premier tourisme de masse faillit faire disparaître ce joyau préhistorique. Mais qu'est-ce que Lascaux en réalité?? Un beau décor?? Une cathédrale?? Un sanctuaire?? Un vestige sacré pour les archéologues??

Lavau I : le complexe funéraire monumental de Lavau (XII^e s. av. J.-C. - IV^e s. apr. J.-C.)

Cette monographie, fruit d'une thèse de doctorat, aborde les modalités d'adoption d'un ustensile spécifiquement méditerranéen par les populations du Centre-Est de la Gaule, entre la dernière moitié du I^{er} s. av. J.-C. et le milieu du III^e ap. J.-C. À partir de données collectées sur un peu plus d'une centaine de sites, majoritairement urbains (oppidum, capitale de cité, agglomération dite secondaire), chaque lampe identifiée est renseignée à partir d'un référentiel typologique détaillé.

Mediterranean Timescapes : Chronological Age and Cultural Practice in the Roman Empire

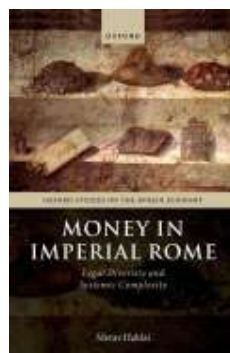

Laurence, Ray
Trifilò, Francesco
1. ed.
Routledge, 2024
304 p.
9781032478869
56,94 €

This book, built around the study of the representation of age and identity in 23,000 Latin funerary epitaphs from the Western Mediterranean in the Roman era, sets out how the use of age in inscriptions, and in turn, time, varied across this region.

Discrepancies between the use of time to represent identity in death allow readers to begin to understand the differences between the cultures of Roman Italy and contemporary societies in North Africa, Spain and southern Gaul.

Money in Imperial Rome : legal Diversity and Systemic Complexity

Haklai, Merav
1. ed.
Oxford University Press, 2025
(Oxford Studies on the Roman Economy)
400 p. ; 23x15 cm.
9780198912002
176,72 €

Money in Imperial Rome offers an in-depth examination of the institutional framework within which money operated as an economic agent in the Roman empire, emphasising its systemic complexity. Analyses focus on classical Roman law as reflected in the writings of Roman jurists from the second and early-third centuries AD.

Mythologizing the Past : Archaeology, History, and Ideology

Rafferty, Sean
1. ed.
Routledge, 2024
202 p.
9781032690209
52,67 €

This book examines the origins, development, and current state of myths surrounding 'lost civilizations' and, more importantly, how these myths contribute to modern political ideologies. By examining the myths, legends, and scientific record concerning Atlantis, the Vikings, the Anglo-Saxons, and the Celts, pre-Contact North America and the Aryans, this book reveals the faulty science, logical fallacies, anti-intellectualism, and outright racism motivating the recurrent interest in them.

Naissance et évolution de l'ensemble castral de Vesvre, du IXe au XIIe siècle, à Neuvy-Deux-Clochers (Cher)

Mataouchek, Victorine (dir.)
1. ed.
Presses universitaires de Caen, 2025
(Publications du Centre de Recherches Archéologiques et Historiques Anciennes et Médiévales)
448 p. ; 28x22 cm.
9782381852522
54,91 €

Situé à l'écart du village de Neuvy-Deux-Clochers, dans le nord du département du Cher, le site castral de Vesvre a bénéficié de deux campagnes de fouilles préventives, l'une dans les sous-sols de la tour et l'autre sur ses élévations, entre 2003 et 2006. Les fouilles dans le sous-sol, dont il est question ici, ont révélé un pan méconnu de l'histoire du site, depuis sa formation à la fin du IXe jusqu'à la construction de la tour au début du XIIIe siècle.

Pioneros en El Argar nos sumerge en el vibrante mundo de la arqueología del siglo XIX con una narrativa cautivadora y accesible. Enfocándose en el yacimiento de El Argar, el libro va más allá de revelar los enterrados restos arqueológicos; explora meticulosamente el contexto histórico y metodológico de las excavaciones dirigidas por los hermanos Enrique y Luis Siret.

Play as Metaphor : ludic Images from Ancient Greece

Dasen, Véronique
1. ed.
Presses universitaires de
Liège, 2025
(Jeu-Play-Spiel)
436 p. ; 24x16 cm.
9782875624284
45,76 €

For two centuries, from the middle of the 6th century to the end of the 4th century BCE, hundreds of scenes of play were depicted on Attic and South Italian vases. They bring to life warriors, children, girls and boys enjoying a large variety of ludic activities—boardgames, ball games, hoop games, spinning tops and swings. This book explores how the experience of play can shed new light on the dynamics of Archaic and Classical Greek society, its norms, values and imagination.

Lo studio della Casa “dell’Efebo”, aggiunge un ulteriore “gioiello” alla piena conoscenza dell’edilizia privata pompeiana, a circa un secolo dallo scavo e dopo un silenzio di vari decenni interrotto solo sporadicamente dall’analisi di singoli reperti effettuata da vari studiosi in occasioni e per circostanze diverse.

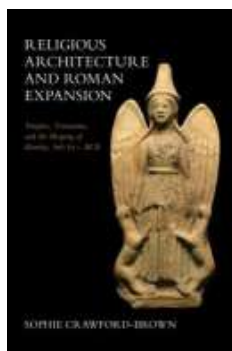

Qanat : stream of Wells

Lightfoot, Dale
1. ed.
Bloomsbury, 2024
880 p. ; 24x16 cm.
9781838602178
142,38 €

Qanats are ubiquitous, yet unseen, and a clever way to create streams where none exist in nature. For 3,000 years, they have made life possible in impossible places and still sustain life and livelihoods in many countries today. After 30 years of field research, Dale Lightfoot provides the first comprehensive study of the qanat and sheds new light on their unique locations and distribution, their origins and history, their ecology, current status and use.

Religious Architecture and Roman Expansion : temples, Terracottas, and the Shaping of Identity, 3rd-1st c. BCE

Crawford-Brown, Sophie
1. ed.
Cambridge University Press,
2025
296 p. ; 26x18 cm.
9781009445115
128,14 €

Religious Architecture and Roman Expansion uses architectural terracottas as a lens for examining the changing landscape of central Italy during the period of Roman military expansion, and for asking how local communities reacted to this new political reality. It emphasizes the role of local networks and exchange in the creation of communal identity, as well as the power of visual expression in the formulation and promotion of local history.

Running Rome and its Empire : the Places of Roman Governance

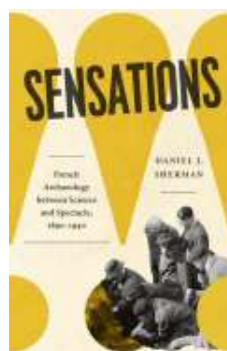

López García, Antonio
1. ed.
Routledge, 2025
(Studies in Roman Space and Urbanism)
330 p.
9781032341781
61,21 €

This volume explores the transformation of public space and administrative activities in republican and imperial Rome through an interdisciplinary examination of the topography of power.

Throughout the Roman world building projects created spaces for different civic purposes, such as hosting assemblies, holding senate meetings, the administration of justice, housing the public treasury, and the management of the city through different magistracies, offices, and even archives.

Sensations : French Archaeology between Science and Spectacle, 1890–1940

9780226835372
67,63 €

Delves into two controversies from the French archaeological world to illuminate the tension between the discipline's scientific ambitions and its hunger for media attention.

For well over a century, from Heinrich Schliemann's sensational discoveries at Troy in the 1880s, through the Tutankhamun excavations of the 1920s, to the recent LIDAR-aided uncovering of lost Maya cities, archaeology has made headlines. In this new history of archaeology and its archival traces, Daniel J.

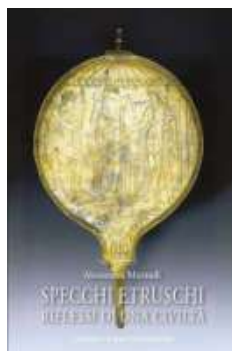

Social Groups and Production in Mycenaean Economies : Papers from the Langford Conference, Florida State University, Tallahassee, 24-25 February 2023

Pullen, Daniel J. (ed.)
1. ed.
Sidestone Press, 2025
721 p. ; 28x21 cm.
9789464263329
49,71 €

The main goal of this volume is to look at social groups involved in economic activity other than members of the palace-based institutions and "elites" in Late Bronze Age Mycenaean Greek societies. The palaces and elites are the usual subject of studies of ancient economies, often from a top-down approach, but here we consider a fuller range of the members of a society, their organization, their institutions, and their contributions to the economies of those societies from bottom-up approaches.

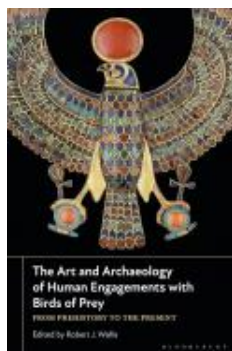

Specchi etruschi : riflessi di una civiltà

Morandi, Alessandro
1. ed.
Erma di Bretschneider, 2025
(Studia Archaeologica ; 268)
232 p. ; 24x17 cm.
9788891335272
171,60 €

Quest'opera, pur contenuta nell'insieme degli specchi etruschi trattati, è il risultato di una pluriennale ricerca svolta ad ampio raggio toccando, si può dire, la quasi totalità di stati e regioni dotati nei loro musei di ricche collezioni di manufatti del mondo antico, ed etruschi in particolare. Naturalmente ci si è volti nella ricerca alle dotazioni più cospicue, queste ben note a tutti gli studiosi, storici e archeologi.

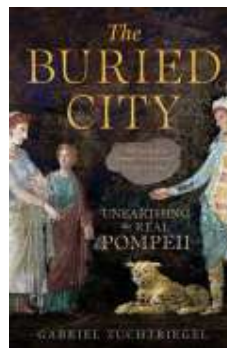

The Art and Archaeology of Human Engagements with Birds of Prey : From Prehistory to the Present

Wallis, Robert J. (ed.)
1. ed.
Bloomsbury, 2025
264 p. ; 23x15 cm.
9781350267992
41,28 €

Of all avian groups, birds of prey in particular have long been a prominent subject of fascination in many human societies. This book demonstrates that the art and materiality of human engagements with raptors has been significant through deep time and across the world, from earliest prehistory to Indigenous thinking in the present day.

The Buried City : unearthing the Real Pompeii

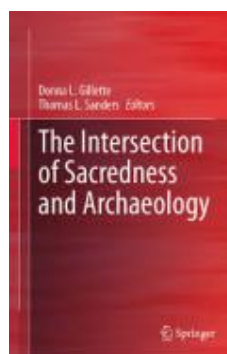

Zuchtriegel, Gabriel
1. ed.
The University of Chicago Press, 2025

35,60 €

The director of the Pompeii Archaeological Park offers a vivid view of daily life in the lost city, shares the latest discoveries, and reflects on preserving heritage.

In The Buried City, Gabriel Zuchtriegel takes us on a behind-the-scenes tour of Pompeii and reveals new archaeological finds that are being unearthed at the site's biggest dig in a generation.

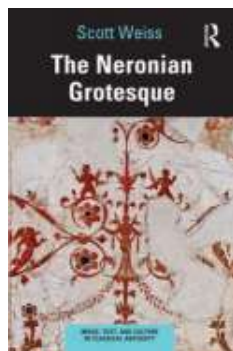

The Intersection of Sacredness and Archaeology

Gillette, Donna L. (ed.)
Sanders, Thomas L. (ed.)
1. ed.
Springer, 2024
xiv, 351 p.
9783031697760
107,34 €

At the point of the often-contentious intersection of sacred site preservation and resource development, archaeology has a unique and valuable role. Archaeology has been criticized as a destroyer of sacred sites through the unbridled pursuit of knowledge through excavation or aiding unbridled development by failing to identify sacred sites. However, archaeology can act as a mitigator between the conflicting goals of preservation and development, while giving the indigenous a voice.

The Neronian Grotesque

During the reign of Nero, Roman culture produced some of its most spectacular works of art and literature, and some of its strangest. This study explores these effects across textual and visual media in an integrated way.

Weiss' analysis allows for appreciation of the shared strategies of composition, overlaps between literary and visual rhetoric, the role of context in shaping the reception of a work, and the authority of the reader/viewer to generate meaning.

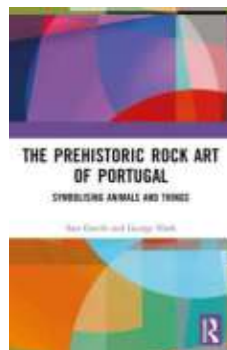

The Oxford Handbook of Archaeology and Language

Recovered in 1755 during excavations in the Villa dei Papiri in Herculaneum, the prosciutto sundial is the earliest known portable Roman sundial. Palm-sized and in the shape of an Italian cured ham, its silver-plated cast bronze form cleverly combines an accurate modelling of a prosciutto with a relatively sophisticated scientific device capable of capturing the seasonal hours of the zodiacal year by employing the pig's tail to cast the sun's shadow onto the dial.

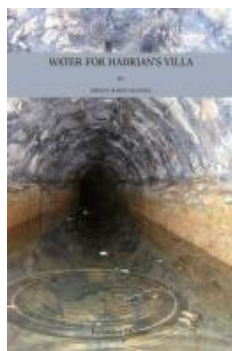

The Roman Civil Wars : The Archaeology and History of a Crisis

The late Roman Republic was characterized by severe crises, ranging from the time of the Gracchi to the Battle of Actium and finally ending with the Principate of Augustus. Individual military leaders such as Marius, Sulla, and Pompey acquired so much power that the internal cohesion of the Republic was shattered. The Roman state descended into civil war.

Water for Hadrian's Villa : A Survey for the Water Supply to the Imperial Villa

Este volumen contribuye a la investigación sobre las ciudades en la península ibérica y en el norte de África y, por tanto, a la historia social del poder, entre la Antigüedad tardía y la Alta Edad Media. Ofrece una selección de diez estudios de casos de ambas regiones basados en la evidencia arqueológica, los monumentos epigráficos y la transmisión literaria, para el periodo comprendido entre el 300 y el 800, analizando el vínculo entre el espacio urbano y las estructuras sociopolíticas.
