

Contents

List of Figures [page xi]
List of Maps [xii]
List of Tables [xiii]
List of Music Examples [xiv]
Acknowledgments [xv]
List of Manuscript Sigla [xviii]
A Note on Dating [xix]
List of Abbreviations [xx]

Introduction [1]

PART I AN AUDIBLE EMPIRE

1 Echoes of Empire
The Laudes in Medieval Venetian Crete [19]
2 Unsilenced Archives
Icons, Advocates, and the Akathistos Hymn [42]

PART II THE FICTIVE CITY

3 Singing Effigies
An Annunciation Drama for the Festa delle Marie [81]

PART III RELICS AND THE HORIZONS OF MUSICAL REPRESENTATION

4 Narrative Fragments
Vespers for the Apparition of Saint Mark’s Relics [119]
5 History Lessons
Matins for the Apparition of Saint Mark’s Relics [156]
6 Sound Documents
The Midcentury Chancery Motet [191]
Epilogue [230]

*Appendix 1: Excerpts from a Sixteenth-Century Ceremonial
Book from Venetian Candia* [237]
Appendix 2: The Akathistos Hymn, translation modified from Peltomaa, The Image of the Virgin Mary in the Akathistos Hymn [239]
Appendix 3: Lectio “secunda” (Zanetti 356, fols. 331v–332r) [248]
Bibliography [250]
Index [269]