

Contents

Acknowledgments — VII

Stephanie Schnurr and Kieran File

Approaching issues of inclusion and exclusion in sports through language — 1

Part I: Creating inclusion/exclusion in authentic interaction

Frances Rock

Chapter 1

‘Dribble dribble dribble! Dribbling is the most elementary in football’:
Doing inclusion in park-based children’s sport — 17

Ozde Ozinanir and Louise Mullany

Chapter 2

#StillWeRise: The sociolinguistics of race, inequalities, and athlete activist identities in Formula 1 social media — 43

Kieran File, Stephanie Schnurr, Amanda Coulson, and Alan Rapley

Chapter 3

Do collective pronouns construct inclusive coach-athlete relations? — 65

Anastasia Stavridou and Kieran File

Chapter 4

Constructing inclusive team management structures: Evidence of multiparty participation in the leadership of a university basketball team — 83

Fergus O’Dwyer

Chapter 5

Banter as a tactic of inclusion in sports organizations — 105

Rachel Chimbwete-Phiri and Stephanie Schnurr

Chapter 6

“Sisters are hot”. Denying netball players their athletic identities through sexualisation practices in online fan groups in Malawi — 125

Part II: Inclusion/exclusion in the sports media.
The representation of female and transgender athletes

Melissa Kemble

Chapter 7

Good girls and bad boys? A corpus analysis of gendered discourses in Australian media coverage of “masculine” team sports — 147

Yasemin Erdoğan-Öztürk, Esranur Efeoğlu-Özcan, and Hale Işık-Güler

Chapter 8

From “the National Pride” to “the Daughters”: Media representations of Olympic sportswomen in Turkey — 171

Aimee Bailey and Lucy Jones

Chapter 9

“Fairness versus inclusion”: Representations of transgender athletes in British newspaper reports — 193

Part III: Reflecting on the language of inclusion and exclusion by athletes and coaches

Eva-Maria Graf and Melanie Fleischhacker

Chapter 10

Within binaries instead of beyond? The discursive (self-)exclusion of young female football players from football as a male and masculine space — 217

Richard Pringle and Erik Denison

Chapter 11

A critical examination of homo-negative language use and the pragmatics of inclusion and exclusion of gay rugby players — 253

Farhana Abdul Fatah

Chapter 12

“Ha ha ha you don’t cover you aurat”: Exploring modesty, prayer, and Malaysian Muslim women gymnasts’ experience of inclusion and/or exclusion — 271

Kieran File, Stephanie Schnurr, and Stuart Cain

Chapter 13

Putting inclusion into practice: A sociolinguistic lens on institutional practices for establishing an inclusive sports organisation — 291

Kieran File and Stephanie Schnurr

Chapter 14

Bringing everything together: Considering the role of language in effecting inclusion and exclusion in sport — 309

List of contributors — 323

Index — 327

