Contents

Acknowledgments —— VII

List of Figures —— XI

Maps —— XV

Introduction —— 1

Chapter 1
Visualizing Empire: Conquest Imagery in the Gallic Provinces —— 13
1.1 Hellenistic Origins of Gallic Stereotypes —— 14
1.2 Coinage and Conquest Imagery —— 20
1.3 Gaul as Captive: The Role of the Gaul in Roman Visual Culture —— 23
1.4 Conquest Imagery and Gallic Self-Representation —— 37
1.5 Conclusion —— 47

Chapter 2
Coining an Image: Conquest, Rebellion, and the Language of Power in Roman Iberia —— 49
2.1 The Conquest Experience in Roman Hispania —— 51
2.2 Coins as Cultural Memory —— 57
2.3 Embracing Commensuration: Inter-Cultural Messaging on Coins —— 66
2.4 Entangled Coin Imagery After the Sertorian War —— 77
2.5 Conclusion —— 84

Chapter 3
Rome and the Greek East: Overwriting and Cowriting Conquest —— 86
3.1 Roman Revisions: Monumental Interventions in Hellenistic Commemorative Landscapes —— 89
3.2 Roman Monetary Interventions in the Hellenistic World —— 97
3.3 Despoliation as Overwriting: Hellenistic Plunder in Roman Contexts —— 104
3.4 Roman and Greek Cowriting —— 107
3.5 Conclusion —— 113

Chapter 4
Conquest Kitsch: Moving Iconography from Public to Consumer Contexts —— 115
4.1 Purchasing Prestige: Elite Competition and Monumentality —— 116
4.2 Conquest and Domestic Spectacle: Luxury Consumption as Elite Self-Expression —— 121

4.3 Conquest Connoisseurs: Performing Status and Identity with Conquest Iconography — 124
4.4 The Fashion for Barbarians: From Literal Reflections to Metaphorical Interpretations — 127
4.5 Conclusion — 133

Conclusion — 135

Bibliography — 141

Index — 161