

Death and Gender in the Early Modern Period

Death in History, Culture, and Society

Editors-in-Chief

Wolfgang Marx (University College Dublin, Ireland)

Heather Sparling (Cape Breton University, Canada)

Editorial Board

Tammy Clewell (Kent State University, Ohio, USA)

Miri Rubin (Queen Mary University of London, United Kingdom)

Patrick Stokes (Deakin University, Melbourne, Australia)

Tony Walter (University of Bath, United Kingdom)

VOLUME 2

The titles published in this series are listed at brill.com/death

Death and Gender in the Early Modern Period

Edited by

Enrique Fernandez
Darlene Abreu-Ferreira

BRILL

LEIDEN | BOSTON

Cover illustration: The Arms of Death, engraving by Hans Lützelburger after Hans Holbein the Younger (ca. 1525), Rosenwald Collection, Accession Number 1943.3.4838, by courtesy of the National Gallery of Arts, Washington, NGA Images, under Creative Commons Zero (CC0), <https://www.nga.gov/collection/art-object-page.7760.html>. The original print has been partially coloured using Procreate.

The Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data is available online at <https://catalog.loc.gov>

Typeface for the Latin, Greek, and Cyrillic scripts: "Brill". See and download: brill.com/brill-typeface.

ISSN 2772-6983

ISBN 978-90-04-24445-0 (hardback)

ISBN 978-90-04-24446-7 (e-book)

DOI 10.1163/9789004244467

Copyright 2024 by Koninklijke Brill nv, Leiden, The Netherlands.

Koninklijke Brill nv incorporates the imprints Brill, Brill Nijhoff, Brill Schöningh, Brill Fink, Brill mentis, Brill Wageningen Academic, Vandenhoeck & Ruprecht, Böhlau and V&R unipress.

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, translated, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without prior written permission from the publisher. Requests for re-use and/or translations must be addressed to Koninklijke Brill nv via brill.com or copyright.com.

This book is printed on acid-free paper and produced in a sustainable manner.

Contents

Acknowledgements	VII
List of Figures and Tables	VIII
Notes on Contributors	X

Introduction: Gender beyond Death	1
-----------------------------------	---

PART 1

Gendering One's Corpse before Death: Wills and Burial Arrangements

- 1 Postmortem Cross-Dressing and Other Gendered Aspects of Lay Death and Burial in Religious Habits, ca. 1350–1650 11
Kirsten Schut
- 2 Gender, Race, and Death in Sixteenth-Century Lisbon 33
Darlene Abreu-Ferreira
- 3 Gender, Death, and Writing in Seville in the Late Middle Ages: Women in the Libro Blanco and the Libro de Dotaciones 63
Diego Belmonte Fernández
- 4 Thinking Outside the Box: Death and Gender in Women's Autobiographical Poems in Early Modern England 87
Marlene Dirschauer

PART 2

Narrating Deaths: Killing and Being a Corpse as Gendered Performances

- 5 Good Deaths, Bad Deaths: Deathbed Narratives, Gender, and Politics in Late Quattrocento Florence 111
Karen Joy Burch

- 6 Gendered Executions and the Exceptional Repression of Sodomy and Suicide in Late Medieval Flanders 135
Mireille J. Pardon
- 7 Death and Dismemberment in Zayas's World 160
Marina S. Brownlee
- 8 The Gender of Relics and Memento Mori 176
Enrique Fernandez
- 9 "Un[Gender] Me Here": Gender, Sex, and Rewriting the Masculine in Shakespeare's Macbeth 208
Deirdra Shupe
- Name Index 227

Acknowledgements

This book was facilitated by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada SSHRC (Sponsor ID: 435-2020-0376). Some contributions and the initial contact with the participants began as part of the “Death and Gender in the Early Modern Period” panel organised for the Renaissance Society of America Annual Conference, Dublin, April 2021. We want to thank María Rodrigo Tamarit and Emily Maggiacomo for their help with the edition of the volume. Some contributions were also facilitated by individual grants and the collaboration of other people, who are individually thanked in footnotes.

Figures and Tables

Figures

- 3.1 Endowment of Alfonso Jiménez and Teresa Pérez in the Libro Blanco, Archivo de la Catedral de Sevilla, ACS, FC, sec.IX, leg.10897, doc.7/1 69
- 3.2 Endowment of Leonor de Vargas in the Libro Blanco, Archivo de la Catedral de Sevilla, ACS, FC, sec.II, lib.09138, f.16r 72
- 3.3 Endowment of Guiomar Manuel in the Libro Blanco, Archivo de la Catedral de Sevilla, ACS, FC, sec.IX, leg.10946, doc.3 76
- 5.1 Johannes Hinderikus Egenberger, Savonarola bij het strefbed van Laurens de Medicis, lithograph, 1843–1887. Amsterdam, Rijksmuseum. Licensed under Creative Commons CC0 1.0 125
- 5.2 Orsino Benintendi, Funeral Mask of Lorenzo the Magnificent, stucco on wood panel, 1492. Florence, Palazzo Pitti. Photo by the author 130
- 6.1 The body of a person who committed suicide displayed hanging from a fork, a fragment of Pieter Bruegel the Elder's painting Triumph of Death, 1562 (Museo del Prado, Madrid). Image by Wikimedia Commons, licensed under the terms of the cc-by-2.0 147
- 8.1 The Final Judgement, ca. 1430, by Nicolò Delli. Fresco. Dome of the Capilla Mayor, Old Cathedral, Salamanca, Spain. Photo by José Luis Filpo Cabana, Wikimedia Commons. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:El_Juicio_Final_Catedral_Vieja_de_Salamanca.jpg 181
- 8.2 Detail of the wall of the Sedlec Ossuary chapel, sixteenth century, Cemetery Church of All Saints, Sedlec, Kutná Hora, Czech Republic. Photo by Todd Hoffman, Flickr Commons. https://live.staticflickr.com/1423/1418679692_35c4fd1of5_3k.jpg 185
- 8.3 Saint Teresa of Avila, seventeenth century, reliquary-statue by anonymous, polychrome wood, Cathedral of Guadix, Spain. Photo by Jebulon, Wikimedia Commons. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Santa_teresa_Guadix.jpg 188
- 8.4 Decorated skeleton of catacomb-saint Innocentius, ca. 1600, Basilic of Saint Lorenz, Kempten, Bavaria, Germany. Photo by Neitram, Wikimedia Commons. https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Kempten,_Basilika_St._Lorenz,_Skelett_des_Innocentius.jpg 197
- 8.5 Decorated skeleton of catacomb-saint Clemens, sixteenth or seventeenth century, Parish church of Saint Gallus and Ulrich, Kißlegg, Baden-Württemberg, Germany. Photo by Andreas Praefcke, Wikimedia Commons. <https://commons.wikimedia.org/w/index.php?curid=2142032> 198

8.6 The abbess and the abbot, from The Dance of Death by Hans Holbein (1522–1526), Friedrich Lippmann, ed. London: Bernard Quaritch, Ltd., 1886. Photos by Wellcome Collection, London, UK. Reference numbers: 29829i (left) and 29290i (right). <https://wellcomecollection.org/works/defr2uug> <https://wellcomecollection.org/works/cpxfu5tj> 200

9.1 Lady Macbeth, Macbeth and the Murder of Duncan (Shakespeare, Macbeth, act II, scene II) Engraving by Charles Rolls British after Henry Corbould (1825–40). The Metropolitan Museum, the Met Open Access collection of images under Creative Commons Zero (CC0). Gift of Harriet McDonald, 1941. Accession Number: 41.91.153 211

Tables

2.1 Annual number of registered deaths, Freguesia de Santa Cruz do Castelo (Lisbon, 1536–1628) 39

6.1 The number of executions for suicide and sodomy in the Liberty of Bruges and Bruges, 1400–1500 152

Notes on Contributors

Darlene Abreu-Ferreira

is a professor of history at the University of Winnipeg. Her research interests include history of women, children, race, sex, and crime in premodern Europe, with a focus on early modern Portugal. Her monograph Women, Crime, and Forgiveness in Early Modern Portugal was published by Ashgate in 2015, and she is currently working on a study of women and children of African descent in premodern Portugal, for which she received a research grant from the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC).

Diego Belmonte Fernández

PhD University of Seville, 2016, is professor in the Department of Historia Medieval y Ciencias y Técnicas Historiográficas, University of Seville, Spain. He specializes in palaeography, diplomatic studies, and codicology, with an emphasis on pragmatic codices and medieval documents from the ecclesiastical institutions of Seville. He published the book Organizar, Administrar, Recordar. El Libro Blanco y el Libro de Dotaciones de la Catedral de Sevilla (U. de Sevilla, 2019). He carried out research stays at the École Nationale des Chartes and at the Universities of Florence, Porto, and Strasbourg. He directs the PAIDI research project El patrimonio escondido de las collaciones sevillanas: escritura, documentos y libros and has been a member of others, such as Iglesia y Escritura en Castilla. Siglos XIII–XVII and Iglesia y Escritura en el Occidente Peninsular (Castilla y Portugal). Siglos XII–XVII.

Marina S. Brownlee

is Robert Schirmer Professor of Spanish and Portuguese Languages and Cultures and Comparative Literature at Princeton University. She received her BA in Hispanic Studies from Smith College and her PhD from Princeton in Romance Languages. The Medieval and Early Modern periods are her primary focus, and within them her interests include cultural and linguistic translation, curiosity and the encyclopedia, and representations of the senses. Brownlee's books are entitled: The Cultural Labyrinth of María de Zayas, The Severed Word: Ovid's Heroides and the Novela Sentimental, The Status of the Reading Subject in the Libro de Buen Amor, and The Poetics of Literary Theory in Lope and Cervantes. Currently, she is writing a book on curiosity and modernity in Early Modern Spain. She has also edited a number of volumes on a variety of Medieval and Early Modern topics.

Karen Joy Burch

PhD, Royal Holloway, University of London, 2020, is currently training in archival science at the University of Glasgow (MSc 2024). She specializes in early modern Florentine history, particularly in the areas of sexuality, gender, and the household. Most recently, her projects have included the digitisation, transcription, and analysis of the Ridolfi Letters at the Royal Holloway archives (2020–2022) as well as serving as media archivist for Wasteland, Inc (2018–2023). She is also an editor and translator for ESL/EFL academics, particularly from Italy and Japan. Her most recent publication in this capacity is a translation of Laura Schettini's Obscene Traffic (Routledge, 2023).

Marlene Dirschauer

PhD, Freie Universität Berlin, 2020, currently works as a member of the research unit "Spiritual Intermediality in the Early Modern Era" at Universität Hamburg. She specializes in early modern English devotional lyric and modernist literature. Her first monograph, Modernist Waterscapes. Water, Imagination and Materiality in the Works of Virginia Woolf was published with Palgrave Macmillan in 2023. She is also co-editor of the Shakespeare Seminar Online.

Enrique Fernandez

Princeton University, PhD 1998, is professor at the department of French, Spanish and Italian at the University of Manitoba, Canada. He specializes in Spanish early modern literature and culture. He published the book Anxiety of Interiority and Dissection in Early Modern Spain (U of Toronto Press, 2015), which won the Canadian Association of Hispanists' Best Book Award in 2016, and is the editor of A Companion to Celestina. Leiden: Brill and the Renaissance Society of America, 2017. He is also the director of the portal Death and Gender in Early Modernity and of the online portal Celestina Visual. He was president of the Canadian Association of Hispanists and founding president of the Círculo de Estudios de la Literatura Picaresca y Celestinesca CELPYC.

Mireille J. Pardon

PhD, Yale, 2020, is an assistant professor of history at Berea College in Berea, Kentucky. She is currently writing a book about homicide and reconciliation in fifteenth- and early sixteenth-century Flanders. More broadly, her work explores judicial practice in late medieval cities, yielding publications on medieval crowds, early modern feral children, and the prosecution of violence.

Kirsten Schut

PhD, University of Toronto, 2019 is a Faculty Fellow in the Humanities with the Foundation Year Program at the University of King's College, Halifax. She previously held postdoctoral research fellowships at the Pontifical Institute of Mediaeval Studies, Toronto, and history departments at the University of Bristol and the University of Cologne. She specializes in late medieval intellectual and cultural history, especially the thought of the Dominican master of theology

Giovanni Regina/John of Naples (fl. ca. 1300–50), and is now working on a book about lay death and burial in religious habits.

Deirdra Shupe

PhD, Florida State University, 2021 is a visiting professor at Florida State University. She wrote her dissertation on narrative prosthesis for examining instances of disease in literature. She studied the intertextuality in the works of Chaucer, Henryson, and Shakespeare.