90,00 €

El al-Muqtabas II-2 es un fragmento de la compilación intitulada Al-muqtabas min anba' ahl al-Andalus, o Kitab al-Muqtabas fi tarij riyal al-Andalus, redactada por el historiador cordobés Ibn Hayyan de Córdoba (377-469 H. / 987-1076 C.). Esta obra constaba de unos diez volúmenes y narraba la historia de al-Ándalus entre su conquista por los musulmanes (132 H. / 711 C.) hasta la desaparición del califato omeya de Córdoba (423 H. / 1031 C.).

Amazigh et arabe dans le massif des Babors (Kabylie orientale, Algérie) : contribution à la typologie des contacts linguistiques L'arabe et les langues amazighes sont en contact depuis plus d'un millénaire en Afrique du Nord. De la côte Atlantique au delta du Nil, les systèmes se sont individualisés à travers des continuums de parlers présentant les traces de ce contact à des degrés et niveaux différents. Dans certaines de ces variétés, le contact est à l'origine d'un véritable entremêlement des systèmes.

Els quatre poetes que es presenten en aquesta breu antologia són representatius d'un període de gran vitalitat en les arts i la cultura del món persa. Khayyam, Sa'di, Rumí i Hafez, tots són un exemple de la rica literatura persa que des del segle ix fins al segle xv tant ha sorprès per la seua bellesa i profunditat inigualable.

Assassins and templars : A Battle in Myth and Blood

Tibble, Steve
1. ed.
Yale University Press, 2026
368 p. ; 19x12 cm.
9780300306187
27,81 €

The story of the medieval world's most extraordinary organisations, the Assassins and the Templars. The Assassins and the Templars are two of history's most legendary groups. One was a Shi'ite religious sect, the other a Christian military order created to defend the Holy Land. Violently opposed, they had vastly different reputations, followings, and ambitions. Yet they developed strikingly similar strategies—and their intertwined stories have, oddly enough, uncanny parallels.

El libro conmemora y analiza en profundidad los 1.000 años de la conquista e integración de las Islas Baleares (principalmente Ibiza y Mallorca) dentro de la poderosa Taifa de Dénia durante la época andalusí. El título del libro hace referencia a Muyahid al-Amiri, un influyente y culto soberano que convirtió a la Taifa de Dénia (en la costa de la actual Alicante) en una gran potencia marítima en el siglo XI. En el año 1015, Muyahid anexionó las Islas Baleares a su reino.

Epigraphy and Theory in the Study of Early Islam

220,55 €

The studies in this book deal with religious groups and notions in late antique Arabia (ca. 150–750 CE), drawing especially on inscriptions and other contemporary sources. They explore the religious and societal dynamics of Arabia during this pivotal period in world history.

Faith, Commerce, and Cultural Exchange in the World of Ibn Battuta : Travelling Islam

Panakkal, Abbas (ed.)
1. ed.
Palgrave, 2026
(Palgrave Series in Indian Ocean World Studies)
xlv, 353 p.
9783031978821
183,05 €

This book offers a nuanced historical analysis of the profound impact of Ibn Battuta's extensive travels across Asia, Africa, and Europe. As one of the most significant figures of medieval Islamic history, Ibn Battuta's journey not only documents his personal experiences but also serves as a lens through which we can examine the complex interrelations of faith, commerce, and cultural exchange that shaped the medieval world.

Historia de los mozárabes en Córdoba : mártires cristianos bajo el dominio omeya

Sánchez Saus, Rafael
1. ed.
Almuzara, 2026
(Historia)
176 p. ; 23x14 cm.
9791370205027
15,95 €

En el verano de 851, un monje llamado Isaac se presentó ante el cadí de Córdoba con el propósito de convencerlo de la verdad del cristianismo. Lo decapitaron al amanecer. En los años que siguieron, cerca de cincuenta hombres y mujeres fueron martirizados por el mismo motivo o por haberse convertido del islam a la fe cristiana. Esas muertes perturbaron profundamente a los mozárabes cordobeses, divididos entre el apoyo y el rechazo de su ejemplar.

Ibn Hazm (994-1063) es considerado el mayor poeta del periodo andalusí y uno de sus principales pensadores. No obstante, y a pesar de la nutrida documentación con la que contamos —incluso de su propio puño y letra— su figura histórica apenas ha sido abordada más que de forma breve en capítulos introductorios a las ediciones de sus obras, o en compendios filosóficos y antologías de sabios de su época.

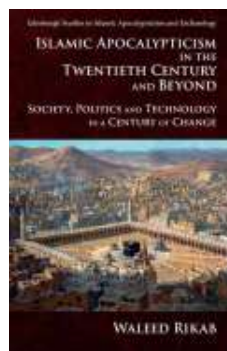

Islam : A New History from Muhammad to the Present

Tolan, John
1. ed.
Princeton University Press,
2026
304 p. ; 20x13 cm.
9780691265803
25,02 €

Today's Muslim world is in upheaval: legalists and mystics engage in intense debates, radical groups invoke Sharia, Muslim immigrants in the West face prejudice and discrimination, and Muslim feminists advocate new interpretations of the Koran. At the same time, Islam is mischaracterized as unitary and unchanging by people ranging from right-wing Western politicians claiming that Islam is incompatible with democracy to conservative Muslims dreaming of returning to the golden age of the prophet.

Islamic Art History and the Global Turn : Theory, Method, Practice

Auji, Hala (ed.)
Dalal, Radha (ed.)
1. ed.
Yale University Press, 2026
(The Biennial Hamad bin
Khalifa Symposium on Islamic Art)
288 p. ; 29x21 cm.
9780300276985
62,58 €

Although scholarship on how Islamic art is studied, collected, and exhibited is on the rise, less attention has been paid to how the field's various commitments relate to pedagogical and curating practices. Bridging the gap between theory and practice, this book explores how the past two decades of debates around diverse, inclusive, decolonial, and global approaches to Islamic art history have taken shape in classrooms, galleries, and related settings.

Maimonides' Moral Psychology : The Emotions, The Virtues, and The Good Life

Green, Alexander
1. ed.
Oxford University Press, 2026
200 p. ; 23x15 cm.
9780197806937
94,57 €

Moses Maimonides is undoubtedly the most famous rationalist of the Jewish tradition, portraying all of Torah as an intellectual project to know the deepest secrets of God and nature. This book, however, argues that this characterization of Maimonides is only partially true. Notwithstanding his focus on the primacy of intellect, he views the emotions or passions as central to the good life.

Muhammad and the Origin of Islam

Bangert, Kurt
1. ed.
Springer, 2026
x, 125 p.
9783658507060
80,30 €

We understand a religion best if we know its origin. Unfortunately, the traditional narrative about the emergence of Islam is based upon sources most of which were written some 150 to 250 years after the events they claim to describe. From a modern historical-critical point of view such late sources only document what people believed at the time when these sources were written, but do not necessarily tell us what actually happened 150 to 250 years earlier.

1. ed.
Edinburgh University Press,
2026
328 p. ; 23x15 cm.
9781399522021
35,58 €

The literature on Islamic political thought utilises a methodology whose typical characteristic is the arbitrary use of religious, philosophical and political perspectives, as if the differences among them have no effect. This amounts to the theologising or philosophising of works of Islamic political theory – written as responses to social, economic and political dynamics – as if they were written as general theoretical formulations of religion or political philosophy.

This book provides a concise reference guide on many of the early cities of the Muslim Arabs that emerged between the seventh century AD, and the early 11th century AD. Kamila Ashour traces the evolution of these cities in historical texts until the early 16th century AD, coinciding with the decline of the Mamluk state.

Urban Planning in the Early Cities of Muslim Arabs elucidates the organizational principles that shaped the urban fabric of these cities amidst ongoing controversy and debate.

La Córdoba omeya fue mucho más que la ciudad de sus grandes monumentos; fue el escenario de las vidas de hombres y mujeres que construyeron una de las sociedades más brillantes del Occidente medieval. Este volumen recupera las trayectorias de veintitrés personajes históricos —musulmanes, judíos y cristianos— desde la mirada renovada de la investigación histórica.
